

University of Instruction Course Competencies

Joint Courses

PHA 1101: Hazing: Ethics, Etiquette, and Evolution

Upon completion of this course, University participants should be able to:

1. Recognize federal and state hazing laws.
2. Recall the various types and descriptions of physical and mental hazing.
3. Recognize the most frequently reported hazing behaviors.
4. Review potential reasons why hazing occurs and myths associated with hazing.
5. Review the financial consequences of hazing to the Grand Lodge and Jerusalem Grand Chapter.
6. Discuss professional, masonic etiquette for the intake of new members.
1. Analyze effective, sequential methods by which the membership may evolve, such that hazing shall be completely eradicated in the State of Florida.
2. Participate in group presentations or masonic educational cases to highlight the importance of the aforementioned competencies.
7. Take a summative exam to assess competency comprehension.